

INTERNSHIPS AND EXTERNAL OPPORTUNITIES

Manage and track opportunities with ease

EMPOWER can track and manage extended educational opportunities available to students such as internships, fellowships and volunteer opportunities. Schools, organizations and students all have the ability to manage specific activities from the self-service Web portal that keep each party organized and informed.

Students can query and express interest in existing opportunities and report a new opportunity, as well as query or provide feedback about their participation. Staff can add, edit and assign opportunities as well as query information about each one. Detailed information can be maintained for each entry, including a description, responsibilities, eligibility requirements, how to apply, opportunity type, focus, key dates, compensation, school credit, location, etc. Organizations have the ability to add or edit opportunities, view students interested or currently participating in their programs, and view comments and feedback from participants.

This functionality is especially valuable for students, who are able to see all potential positions at a glance, express interest with the click of a button and provide feedback throughout their participation. However, it also supports relationships between schools and external organizations, providing an efficient way to manage and collaborate on available positions. Schools are able to track student participation and provide their students with information about valuable opportunities, connecting their students with employers, coordinators, and other outside agencies that can offer valuable experiences.
